longterm care facilities, and hospice. In addition to providing direct service, social workers are involved in community advocacy, program development, research, and policy development.

Professionally, graduates of BSW programs are eligible to pursue state licensure at the baccalaureate level. Academically, the BSW is recognized as the basis of eligibility for advanced standing in master's level social work education (MSW). This means that a person holding the BSW may be able to complete the master's program in a shorter period than someone who holds a baccalaureate degree from another discipline. Please consult the graduate school of your choice for specific requirements concerning advanced standing. State licensure information is available at the following website addresses:

About the NKU Bachelor of Social Work Program

Our social work program has been accredited by the Council on Social Work Education since 1979, marking more than 4 decades of exceptional social work education. The BSW program prepares graduates for social work practice with diverse populations in a variety of settings. The curriculum covers content related to social justice, diversity, human behavior, policy, research, and social work practice with individuals, groups, organizations, and communities.

Aside from classroom learning (online or in-person), the BSW program strongly believes that learning should extend beyond the classroom. This is why the BSW program includes 400 hours of field placement. Students complete these field hours within a community-based agency that aligns with their interests and passions.

- Apply and communicate understanding of the importance of diversity and difference in shaping life experiences in practice at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels.
- Present themselves as learners and engage clients and constituencies as experts of their own experiences.
- Apply self-awareness and self-regulation to manage the influence of personal biases and values in working with diverse clients and constituencies

3. Advance human rights, social, economic, and environmental justice

- Apply their understanding of social, economic, and environmental justice to advocate for human rights at the individual and system levels.
- Engage in practices that advance social, economic, and environmental justice.

4. Engage in practice-informed research and research-informed practice

- Use practice experience and theory to inform scientific inquiry and research.
- Apply critical thinking to engage in analysis of quantitative and qualitative research methods and research findings.
- Use and translate research evidence to inform and improve practice, policy, and service delivery.

5. Engage in policy practice

- Identify social policy at the local, state, and federal level that impacts well-being, service

- Collect and organize data, and apply critical thinking to interpret information from clients and constituencies.
- Apply knowledge of human behavior and the social environment, person-in-environment, and

Path to the BSW degree

The path to the BSW degree involves 4 main steps/phases. The following graphic provides an overview of these 4 phases and which courses students take during each phase. Below the graphic, more detailed information is provided about each phase.

Additional Information about Each Phase

Phase 0: Declare Social Work as your Major & Meet with your Advisor

- Students may declare social work as a major once fully accepted as a student at NKU. Students may initially declare social work as their major on t

- While completing these field placement hours, students are also enrolled in two 5-credit hour courses (SWK406 and SWK408). These field experience courses are intended to enhance and compliment the learning that is occurring within the community-based agency.
- There is a separate Field Education Manual available for students, field seminar instructors, field supervisors, and faculty as a guide to general procedures, objectives, and activities involved in field education.
- In the semester prior to Field Experience, students receive an advising registration hold. Students are required to schedule a meeting with the Field Director. After meeting with the Social Work Field Director about the field experience course requirements, the student meets with the Social Work Advisor to review graduation Program Certification forms and release the student's registration hold.

In addition to the core social work courses, students must also complete a total of 9 credit hours of social work electives. We offer electives in the areas of forensic social work, police social work, child welfare, substance abuse, mental health, social justice, family-directed structural model, gerontology, veteran services, and others. Based on the needs of the community and the social work profession, we continuously reevaluate, update, and add electives. For a list of electives, please consult the NKU course catalog.

You should also know that some social service agencies may require field students and potential employees to undergo criminal background checks by an external agency. Also, some agencies may deny students and graduates convicted of felonies and certain misdemeanors. In addition, obtaining licensure may be more challenging for individuals convicted of felonies and certain misdemeanors.

Additional University Requirements

Aside from meeting specific BSW requirements, students must also meet all University requirements for earning a bachelor's degree. These university requirements are as follows:

- Minimum of 120 credit hours, the last 30 hours must be taken at NKU
- Minimum of 25% of the semester hours required for a degree must be taken at NKU
- Developmental Coursework (if required) must be satisfied. (See "ADMISSION STATUS" of University Catalog).
- Completion of Foundation of Knowledge Courses (General Education Courses). The requirements are located on the Foundation of Knowledge NKU website and in the NKU catalog.
- Completion of an Associate's Degree or Social Justice Minor or other secondary area of study (either a minor or focus area).
- Grade point average (GPA) of at least 2.75 on all work attempted at NKU.
- Forty-five (45) semester hours of successfully completed coursework at the 300-level or above is required of all bachelor's candidates. Even though freshman and sophomore level courses completed at other institutions may have course titles and/or content similar to certain upper division courses at NKU, the Office of the Registrar will make the determination of equivalencies for acceptance toward fulfillment of this requirement.

Please consult the NKU catalog for a detailed overview of university requirements. In addition, your advisor can help you navigate these requirements.

Social Work Advising

Social work majors work closely with an academic advisor who is knowledgeable about the University and BSW Program requirements. The academic advisor's role is to guide students through their academic career

- Advising can occur through email or virtual appointments.

Transfer Students

The University's Office of Admission has written policies affecting transfer students to which the program adheres. NKU Admissions Transfer Course Equivalent Database provides a service for students who want to know whether the courses they are taking, or plan to take, will transfer successfully to Northern Kentucky University. Public 2-year and 4-year Kentucky colleges, technical schools, private Kentucky colleges, and some Non-Kentucky colleges are currently included in the database. Every effort is made to provide accurate and current information; however, the right is reserved to amend or revise the contents at any time. Final decisions regarding the transfer of credit and application of credit to majors rest with the NKU Office of Admissions and/or the respective academic departmental offices. Only coursework from regionally accredited institutions is accepted at NKU. Coursework listed in the Transfer Equivalency Guide from non-regionally accredited institutions is not accepted at NKU. The NKU BSW Program policy is to accept social work courses only from CSWE accredited BSW programs.

Academic Grievance Process

When a student believes that an instructor has violated his/her rights in the classroom (e.g., failure to follow stated grading policy or other procedures and objectives as outlined in the syllabus, discrimination in evaluation of individual achievement, illegal discrimination or harassment), the student should follow procedures found in the Student Code of Rights and Responsibilities (<https://inside.nku.edu/scra/information/students/rights-responsibilities.html>). The Code states:

Grievance Procedure

The student will discuss the matter with the course instructor within ten (10) working days of the incident. If the student is unable to contact the instructor, he or she should contact the Dean of the College.

The student will discuss the matter with the course instructor within ten (10) working days of the incident.

The instructor will respond in writing within five (5) working days of the student's request.

to function as an agent of enlightenment in society. Students are to be aware of University regulations and adhere to them. Students should familiarize themselves with the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities (<https://inside.nku.edu/scra/information/students/rights-responsibilities.html>). It is your responsibility to read and abide by this document.

NASW Code of Ethics

Social work students must follow the National Association of Social Workers (NASW) Code of Ethics. It is our intention that students will be inspired to not simply be an honest and good student, but pursue honesty and excellence in all areas of their careers. The NASW Code of Ethics will be taught in several of your social work courses. Professional behaviors, and behaviors in general, are learned, so if you have any questions, please ask your instructor. When entering the Social Work Program, you will have to acknowledge that you have received and read this student handbook, and that you agree to abide by the guidelines provided therein. This includes the NASW Code of Ethics. You will have to sign a form indicating that you have read the Code, agree to support its principles, and understand that violation of the Code could result in removal from the BSW program.

The NASW Code of Ethics outlines the values, ethical principles, and ethical standards held by social workers. Social work students at NKU are required to read and follow the Code of Ethics as part of their professional development experience to prepare students for the ethical dilemmas they will face and deal with in social work practice.

The NASW Code of Ethics (1996) serves six purposes:

1. The Code identifies core values on which social work is based.

B. Respect/Civility.

F. Academic Accountability. Commit yourself to learning to communicate in a professional context.

Components:

- a.) Do your own work, and take credit only for your own work. This includes paraphrases and citations, and giving credit where credit is due.
- b.) Acknowledge areas where improvement is needed, and actively work to address those areas.
- c.) Complete work in a timely manner, and incorporate time to review your own work and any needed resources before submission.
- d.) Seek out and benefit from constructive feedback. This includes peer review, instructor reviews, and utilization of the campus writing center.

G. Commitment to Diversity. Strive to become more open to people, populations, id reTj f -0.00b24 T

Required Course Progression Policy.

Students are required to follow the course progression in their academic plan/advising schedule as recommended by the NKU BSW advisor* and NKU BSW field director.* If students delay required field placements and/or required courses, then they may not be permitted to complete current classes and may not register for additional classes in the BSW program until they have completed recommended field placements and/or required courses. In accordance with this policy, students may be removed from existing enrollment as necessary.

*The NKU BSW advisor and the NKU BSW field director are both employees of NKU. Persons who are not employees of NKU are not permitted to guide or advise regarding student course progression.

Disclaimer: Successful registration in specific courses is contingent on students still meeting the specific course criteria at the start of the relevant semester. This involves a review of student records prior to the start of each new semester.

Evaluation of Student Work Policy.

Faculty members are unable to provide extra credit points or extra assignments or accept late submissions from any individual student in order to help them pass the course. The university requires faculty members to grade the submitted student work to evaluate student understanding of and engagement with the course content. This is required so that the university has documented evidence that each student has demonstrated mastery of the course materials. This submitted evidence of student mastery is then utilized for the university to award degrees to students to indicate that the students have developed expertise in their chosen fields.

If a student does poorly on submitted class work to such an extent that it has heavily impacted their grade(s), it is critically important that the student re-takes the course so that they can master the required content. All graduating NKU BSW students receive the same NKU BSW degree; therefore, all graduating NKU BSW students must successfully complete the required coursework.

If you feel that you have extenuating circumstances that make it difficult for you to engage with the course and complete assignments in a manner that demonstrates your potential, please take immediate action to advocate for your own learning professional ethics and practice set forth by the BSW Program and the National Association of Social Workers.

The faculty will regularly monitor not only students' academic progress, but also personal and interpersonal dynamics that may affect their performance as social work professionals. The purpose of this monitoring process is to ensure that all graduates of the Northern Kentucky University BSW Program are not experiencing personal and interpersonal characteristics that interfere with their professionalism or helping capacity.

As future professional social workers, the faculty expects students to exhibit the following personal and interpersonal characteristics (Professional Expectations of Student Behavior) throughout their time in the program:

- Accountability
- Respect and Civility
- Confidentiality
- Competence
- Integrity
- Academic Accountability
- Commitment to Diversity

These professional expectations of student behavior are presented in greater detail on pages 23-34 of this handbook.
